

Top 10 Most Expensive Coffees in the World 2011

*www.mostexpensivecoffee.net

Coffee is one of the most favorite drink in the world. Millions of people in the world drink coffee when they wake up in the morning or relax at night. People in the world drinking coffees from the usual coffee to the most expensive coffee one. I guess you have ever been drinking coffee several time in your life right? Some of you maybe curious about how the most expensive coffee in the world looks like? Here's the most expensive coffees in the world that will make you think twice to buy it.

10. Coffee Yauco Selecto AA, Puerto Rico: $24 per pound

This coffee is cultivated in the Yauco Area in Puerto Rico. It's the southwestern mountains of Puerto Rico. The Coffee is famous for the excellence taste throughout the world. The coffee has a mild flavor. This coffee can be enjoyed for a price of $24 per pound.

Yauco Selecto AA

9. Starbucks Rwanda Blue Bourbon, Gatare/Karengera, Rwanda: $24 per pound

In 2004, This coffee bean was found by starbucks in Gatare and Karengera on the visit to the washing station in Rwanda. From that time, the farmers mainly cultivate Rwanda Bourbon coffee beans as main crop. This coffee bean can be enjoyed for $24 per pound.

Starbucks Rwanda Blue Bourbon Coffee

8. Hawaiian Kona Coffee: $34 per pound

Kona coffee is a market name for the coffee that cultivated on the slopes area of the Hualalai and Mauna Loa located in the south and north Kona districts of the Big Island of Hawaii. This coffee is very popular and have a good reputation from the coffee lover. The unique climate and soil of Kona form the unique and special taste of the coffee.

Hawaiian Kona Coffee

7. Los Planes Coffee, Citala, El Salvador: $40 per pound

Los Planes coffee is the best commercially grown coffee in El Salvador that ranked 2nd in the cup of excellence of 2006 with the score of 93.52 of 100. This coffee become the most favorite plant on the Citala area in El Salvador. You can enjoy this coffee for $40 per pound.

Los Planes Coffee

6. Blue Mountain Coffee, Wallenford Estate, Jamaica: $49 per pound

Jamaican Blue Mountain coffee is coffee variety that grown in the blue mountain in Jamaica. The blue mountain coffee is famous for its mild flavour and lack of bitterness. The coffee become the most expensive and seeked for for the last decades. Japanese love this coffee so much that over 80% of the Jamaican Blue Coffee is exported to Japan. This coffee can be enjoyed for $49 per pound.

blue mountain coffee

5. Fazenda Santa Ines, Minas Gerais, Brazil: $50 per pound

Fazenda Santa Ines coffee from Minas Gerais in Brazil is a high rated coffee in the cup of excellence in 2006. This coffee was bought by a famous cafe in Canada and two cafes in Australia. They bought in the rate of $50 per pound. If you want to enjoy this coffee, just prepare $50 to buy a pound of it.

Fazenda Santa Ines

4. El Injerto – Huehuetenango, Guatemala: $50 per pound

El Injerto is a coffee that cultivate in the Huehuetenango region in Guatemala. It's one of the most favorite coffee in the world. It's proven because it become the first ranked in the 2006 cup of excellence. You can take this coffee home for $50 per pound.

Guatemala Fina El Injerto

3. St. Helena Coffee From St. Helena Coffee Company, St. Helena: $79 per pound

St. Helena coffee is a coffee variant that come from the St. Helena island (It's 1,200 miles away from the coast of Africa). The island is the island where Napoleon Bonaperte was exiled until the rest of his life. This coffee is renowned for its flavour taste. You can taste this coffee for $79 per pound.

St Helena coffee

2. Hacienda La Esmeralda, Boquete, Panama: $104 per pound

This coffee usually grown in the shade of old Guava trees in the Hacienda La Esmerald. It's in the slope of Mount Baru in Boquete, western Panama. The coffee become expensive because of its flavor and aroma. You have to spend $104 to get a pound of this coffee.

Hacienda La Esmeralda Coffee

1. Luwak Coffee, Indonesia: $160 per pound

Luwak coffee is coming from Indonesia. Luwak coffee is produced from coffee beans that have eaten and passed the digestive system of animals called mongoose (civet). This coffee is originally coming from Lampung in Sumatra island. This coffee is famous worldwide. In the US, there are some coffee selling this coffee for a quite expensive price. This coffee can be bought for $160 per pound.

Luwak Coffee